

Dr Eleni Agathopoulou is an assistant professor at the Department of Theoretical and Applied Linguistics, School of English, Aristotle University. She holds an M.A. in Applied Linguistics, University of Reading UK, and a Ph.D. in Second Language Acquisition (Noun-noun compounds in the Greek-English Interlanguage), Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. She has taught English as a Foreign Language in primary and secondary schools, as well as English for Specific Purposes at the Aristotle University. Since her employment at the School of English she has taught English Grammar, Reading and Writing, Introduction to Linguistics, Second Language Acquisition Theories, Generative Approaches to Second Language Acquisition, Methodology of Teaching Modern Languages and English for Specific Purposes. Her main interests concern Second Language Acquisition within the Universal Grammar framework as well as the effect of processing instruction and focus on form in the foreign/second language classroom.