

Vasilina Spanou is an MA student in Linguistics at Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (2016-2018). Her MA dissertation, supervised by Dr. Eleni Peristeri (lead) and Dr. Katerina Nicolaidis, focuses on bilingualism and bi-literacy effects on the referential processing, executive functions and theory-of-mind skills of 6-12 year old children. She holds a BA in English Language & Literature from Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (2011-2016). She is a member of the inter-university special interest group “Polydromo”, where she has taught English as a second language to mixed groups of adult refugees and migrants, on a voluntary basis. Her research interests involve child and adult bilingualism, language and cognitive control skills, first and second language acquisition as well as acquired language disorders.
